C. A. Simpson Wounded By Knife Wielders

POLICE ON TRAIL

Beaumont Party Said To Have Attacked

Efforts to locate the occupants of a Ford car who fled the city late last night following an altercation at Ninth and Houston avenue in which C. A. Simpson suffered knife cuts in his back and arms were being made today by the police department.

Police Chief Covington said the car, which is said to have contained three young women and two men, bore a Beaumont number. The number of the car has been turned over to the Beaumont police department and arrests asked by Covington.

According to eye witnesses the first followed an argument regarding the football game between the Port Arthur and Beaumont High schools yesterday afternoon.

"Raz" Pedestrians. The visitors in a Ford were seen to pass up and down Procter and Houston avenues a number of times, celebrating the Port Arthur defeat by yelling at people on the sidewalks and in cars, officers said.

Simpson, with other young men, ran into the group and a rapid fire of "razzing" ensued as the cars drove side by side, those with Simpson told officers. Both cars stopped at Ninth and Houston and the two men with those in Simpson's car are said to have engaged in a free-for-all for several minutes, witnesses said.

Saw Knife Flash. One of Port Arthur inhabitants saw Simpson fighting with one of the strangers and said he saw the latter wielding a knife on the Port Arthur boy. The two were separated and while Simpson was being removed to his car by his companion, the visitors rushed into their own car and sped out of town, eye witnesses said.

Every effort to find Simpson's assailant will be made by the police department, Chief Covington said today.

Simpson's wounds, though painful were not serious, it being reported from the hospital this morning that he is doing nicely. Several stitches were necessary for the gash in the wounded man's back, physicians said.

NINE DIE FROM POISONED CIDER

Two Probes Are Launched In Elks Tragedy

BEDFORD, Va., Nov. 12.—With nine men dead, the climax of a tragedy at the Elks National home, which followed the drinking of a keg of cider poisoned by arsenic, appeared today to have been reached and Superintendent Charles L. Mosby reported that the 17 men still in the hospital seem to be out of danger.

The total was raised to nine last night with the death of W. H. Hatchinson, Cory, Pa.

A double investigation of the fatal party has been launched, county officials, however, indicate there will be no criminal prosecution, as the whole affair seems to have been a tragic accident.

According to the theory held by all parties who studied the tragedy, the keg in which the poisoned cider was delivered to the home for lunch Monday was previously used as a container for arsenate of lead, used in spraying fruit trees.

Mrs. T. S. Sterling Thought Fatally Hurt

DRIVER REPORTS

Claims Crash Last Night Unavoidable

Struck by an automobile on the Port Arthur highway near Nederland Tuesday night shortly after 8 o'clock, and probably fatally injured, Mrs. T. E. Sterling, 60, of Nederland, had not regained consciousness at a late hour today, it was reported at Mary Gates hospital, where the woman was brought for medical attention.

Mrs. Sterling suffered a fracture of the skull and her right arm was broken, attending physicians said.

Walking on Highway. With her husband, Mrs. Sterling had left the Port Neches bus at Nederland and started walking down the Port Arthur highway to their home, about half a mile away, when she was run down by an automobile. She had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Venable, of Port Neches, who is seriously ill.

After the accident, O. Engstrom of 2605 Lake Shore drive, Port Arthur, reported to Port Arthur police that he was driving the car which hit Mrs. Sterling.

Says Accident Unavoidable. He claimed the accident was unavoidable, saying that Mrs. Sterling stepped directly in the path of his car when he was too close to her to stop or swerve aside to avoid hitting her.

Two of Mrs. Sterling's sons, Clarence and Don, of Houston, arrived in Port Arthur in response to summons telling of their mother's critical illness, and three other sons and a daughter, of Beaumont, Rufus, William and Walter, and Mrs. J. S. Gibson, also are at their mother's bedside.

ERA OF PROSPERITY WILL FAR SURPASS FORMER RECORDS, FINANCIER ASSERTS; WARNS OF INFLATION DANGER

BY FRANK VANDERLIP (Copyright, 1924, by United Press Association)

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—I believe we are beginning an economic period during which practically every total measuring business activity will far surpass former records.

The new record of stock market activity, both in total shares and in the number of issues traded in, is but a forerunner of new high records in many other directions. The business scene is set for a protracted period of record breaking totals.

Bankers Are Sound. We already have satisfactory labor employment at high, effective wages. With few exceptions there is no accumulation of surplus stocks of goods. There is a thoroughly sound banking position and facilities for an almost unlimited extension of credit.

There is an unusual degree of peace between employers and labor. There is a general feeling of confidence of which promises to result in courageous undertaking of fresh enterprises.

European conditions are much improved and there is more reason for hopefulness than at any time since the armistice, and I am confident there is no serious threat that European industrial competition will endanger our own situation.

Word of Warning. Indications are that we are likely to be offered European securities on a huge scale. I fear we may lend out our super-abundant reservoir of credit too freely.

A chief word of warning I would give to investors at the moment is to exercise caution regarding investments in new European issues.

On time, we are almost certain to run into a phase of inflation. The memory of 1920 is still too fresh to make such a movement precipitous, but I believe it is inevitable. We have every basis for inflation. Our gold stock has risen in ten years from $1,500,000,000 to $4,500,000,000. Much of that has purposefully been made useless for the present by forcing gold certificates into circulation.

DRYS BACK RULING

Court's Ordered Verdict O.K. Leader Says

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 12.—Judge Morris A. Sopher, in charging the jury in the case of Congressman John P. Hill, in the United States district court, today, instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty on the nuisance counts of the indictments.

He told them that in the other counts, charging manufacture and possession of intoxicating wine and cider, the question for them to determine was whether these beverages were intoxicating "in fact."

On the decision may depend widespread effect on the prohibition act and necessity for revision.

Decision Right, Law Needs 'Corking' Wheeler Asserts

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Renewed efforts by "drys" in the coming session of congress to make the Volstead act apply to home brew were foreseen here today as a result of the Sopher opinion in the trial of Representative Hill that it did not so apply.

Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon league, in a laconic statement, said the Sopher opinion was "clearly right" and that it might be necessary "to cork up the law a bit."

"Wets," on the other hand, were jubilant. They were of the opinion that to make the one-half of one percent definition of intoxicating alcoholic content apply to cider and fruit juices manufactured in the home or on the farm would alienate a large portion of the rural vote which has always been strongly dry.

The Sopher opinion was in conformity with a four-year-old policy of the department of justice here. Assistant Attorney General Frierson, four years ago, wrote an opinion that home brew was exempt from the alcoholic content definition of the Volstead act.

"FEET OF CLAY"
 A daintily shod foot suddenly appearing from nowhere to crash down in a pretty sand castle forms a dramatic ending to one of the most interesting proposals of marriage as yet put on the screen. It occurs in "Feet of Clay."

WARREN KERRIGAN STARS
 A genuine old relic of the sailing days of 1827 is used as a chart in the sequences of the pictureization of Rafael Sabatini's famous novel, "Captain Blood," at the Cameo theatre. It is a globe which J. Warren Kerrigan as Captain Blood uses to chart the courses of his pirate ship, "Arabella."

Aside from being authentic as the instrument used by the ancient navigators it holds interest in that the last corrections as to explorations and territorial lines were made in the year 1827. Alaska appears under the name of Russian America, Hawaiian Islands are called by their original name, the Sandwich group. Western United States as far north as the present Oregon line and east to the Mississippi river is given as the property of Mexico. Only a few of the great cities of the world today are given on the globe, while many of our chief centers of today are not shown.

AT THE PEACE
 Some of the most thrilling and unusual forest fire scenes ever shown in motion picture form one of the highlights of "Roaring Rails," which is now showing at the Peace theatre.

A considerable part of "Roaring Rails" was filmed in the primitive region near Klamath Falls, Oregon.

"Roaring Rails" is a story of railroad life and the great outdoors and the most spectacular production in the Carey has ever appeared.

In his strong supporting cast are such screen favorites as Edith Roberts, Wallace McDonald, Frankie Darro, Charles Belcher, Frank Hagerty, and Duke R. Lee. Tom Foran directed.

RESIDENCE BUILDING TAKES SPURT HERE

Residence building in Port Arthur has a substantial spurt the last few days according to the records of Charles Busby, city building inspector, which show three buildings to cost a total of $10,000 are to be erected at once.

George Holland has taken out a permit for residence at 2116 Procter a cost $6,000. One for $3,000 was issued to Joe Duke at 3507 Fifth. Repairs to cost $1,000 will be made by Beulah Wright on residence at 17 Lincoln.

The Healthful Way To Reduce Excess Fat

In his search for the cause of superfluous fat and a way to overcome it, Dr. R. L. Graham found that venting alcohol in the stomach results in obesity, anemia, rheumatism and diabetes. Years of study enabled him to perfect a remedy that would check fat at its source and reduce surplus accumulations without injury to health or the discomforts of weakening diets and strenuous exercise. His famous prescription, Neutroids, has been successfully used by 100,000 people in every part of the country. Neutroids contain no thyroid extract or habit-forming drugs. You can now get them on a positive guarantee of satisfaction or money back at Corner Drug Co., Owl Drug Co., City Drug Store, Hart Drug Co., McMullen & Glass—Adv.

THREE BOUND OVER ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Binding over of a white man, negro and negroess on whiskey charges and ordering arrests of three white men due in court but failing to appear, marked the activities before Federal Commissioner C. E. Pool at the city hall Tuesday afternoon.

J. A. Oecher, white man was bound over on bond of $300. Mary Nelson, negroess, is still in jail on bond of $500 which she failed to make. George Holmes, negro, bond was set at $300.

Judge Pool ordered arrests of Henry Robichaux, A. Romero and John Domingue because of failure to appear when summoned for examining trials. Robichaux and Romero were arrested later in the afternoon by Officers Baker, Williams and Scroggins of the police department and remanded to jail without bond to await until Friday, when the commissioner is due to return.

Domingue had not been arrested up to noon today.

Dr. Frank Crane's Editorials

CRIME AND SAFETY.

The crime of Mr. Hight, who poisoned his wife and induced a woman to poison her husband, makes us realize how thin is the crust of our civilization.

It cannot be too often impressed upon us that we are not secure because of our armies and navies and policemen and other things of that sort. Our security, every day, rests upon the presence of the moral inhibitions of the people about us and of our own.

We are safe, mostly, because most of the people around us are decent. They have decent instincts and an habitual control over their passions. If they did not have they would reduce our whole social fabric to ruin within a week.

Slowly the race has been getting rid of its criminal and destructive instincts. When we read of the crimes of the Borgias and other poisoners of long ago they seem to us to be of a foreign world and of different people from ourselves. Such an occurrence as that of the Hight murder makes us realize that we are still human, that there is still something in us of the age of the Borgias, and that our development has not proceeded very far.

It seems impossible for most of us to realize that people could commit such despicable murders. Most of us are revolted at the thought of it, and our safety from such acts consists in the strength of the universal repulsion at them.

This Mr. Hight seems to be a strange case. Although a minister of the gospel he did not sufficiently curb his evil passions and was willing to sacrifice anything in order to gratify them. The usual restraints found in religion and morality did not hold with him.

It is well for the world that there are few men capable of descending to such depths of crime. (Copyright 1924, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

In New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—There is one sight in New York that only the winter visitor can see.

Come up the bay or across the river on a ferry between fifty-third and six in the evening.

Before you lie a jewel of a million facets, a great mountain alive with a million lights. Buildings are lost in the darkness and only the lights of the windows are to be seen. All the windows in all the buildings which compose the great man-made mountain of Manhattan are aglow.

Later in the evening the lights will be out and only bulky black pillars of stone will stand out above the darkened canyon of Broadway.

The fantastic magic of light that makes the drab top of Manhattan one of the most interesting sights in all America is wrought by subterranean forces.

As soon as the skyscrapers have been emptied of the thousands who labor in them by day, the charwomen come to do their work. They come just as darkness comes at this time of the year and so it is that all the lights are on at once.

In summer the work of the charwomen is done before the sun sets and for that reason the summer visitor never sees New York in its most magnificent dress.

A subway car at 3 o'clock in the morning. . . Half the passengers asleep, get all seem to awake in time to get off at their stations. . . A grimy tot of the night embarrassed because a young lady in beautiful evening dress is about to sleep against his shoulder. The escort of the young lady is asleep with his chin on his chest. . . A young baby asleep in its mother's arms. And the mother's asleep, too. . . Four young nabobs inspired to song by the stuff they're been drinking. The noise they make is terrible, but they think it's headline stuff. . . A drunken bum unsteady out full-length on the seat. . . A filthy nobody will sit or stand near him. Three tired girls returning home from a dance, unescorted and refusing to flirt with the blushing songsters. . . When will all these people get up? And how will they be able to do a day's work on the morrow?

An Indian medicine show visited the Bronx. Business was poor for several days. Then the Indians hired a little Jewish boy and told him all about the herb medicines they handled.

At night the boy stands under the gasoline flares and tells the Bronxites about the wonderful cures effected by the herbs, while the Indian braves stand by, silently.

Business is much better now. The boy speaks Yiddish fluently.

COOLIDGE TO ATTEND LIVE STOCK SHOW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—President Coolidge today decided to leave here December 3 to attend the Chicago livestock show.

SPEEDING UP RED CROSS ROLL CALL A TRIBUTE TO WORK HERE

The Red Cross general committee in charge of the eighth annual roll call got away to a running start when it announced Armistice day that 25 firms, with subscriptions of $2,600, had entered the 100 per cent list.

The announcement was opportune. It was in keeping with the spirit of Armistice day, a good time to remember that we have fought a serious war and won it when there was a time when many feared we would not. The Red Cross helped win it, too. Its weapon was that of sympathy and relief of suffering and woe, but its moral effect on our fighters in France was incalculable.

So today, with this initial sendoff to pep up the campaign to a high pitch of enthusiasm much should be accomplished in raising Port Arthur's $18,000 budget within the next day or two. The iron is hot. Everyone should hit it with a vengeance. The roll call officially will not be over until November 29, but there could be no more splendid accomplishment than to so back the Red Cross with our confidence as to meet the budget before a week has passed.

There are a serious minded body of workers in charge of the campaign. They will canvass, by zones, every section of the city. There will be no need for anyone to report that he has not contributed because he didn't know that a drive was on, or that his block was not being worked. These men, some 100 strong, are leaving their business affairs and actively prosecuting the roll call because they believe in it. They get nothing out of it except a sense of having performed their duty. That of course is sufficient for anyone. But the rest of us who have been allowed to continue our daily activities while they are giving of valuable time which means money to them on top of that are backing their faith in the Red Cross with substantial subscriptions of their own should not be tardy in showing the kind of stuff we are made of. We can simplify their work a hundred per cent if we give quickly and to the limit of our ability. There is no need to ride a willing horse to death. That's exactly what we will do if we fail to respond while these workers are giving so freely of their own valuable time.

Let's back the Red Cross to the limit.

Let's do it quickly in proof that it and the workers have our moral support.

And when it's all over, the $18,000 pledged, we can safely lean back in the satisfaction of a duty well done, and that's worth more than the money to any of us.

Let's go!

ALWAYS ROOM AT THE TOP

Young men who are wondering what line of work to follow will be interested in this. So will others who, already started, find the road to success rough and steep.

Each year American industry needs 40,000 new mining, electrical, hydraulic and other engineers. Yet our engineering colleges are graduating only 9,000 a year. So claims the National Industrial conference board.

Colonel Barbour, editor of Mining and Metallurgy, challenges the board's claim. He says: "Nothing could be more absurd. Moreover, such a statement is tragically harmful to the current graduate and the young man who is about to decide on an engineering course of study. The engineering profession is already over-crowded.

Every business is over-crowded, for that matter, except branches of skilled labor where strict union rules hold down the number of apprentices.

As far as mere numbers are concerned, we have too many engineers, too many doctors, too many lawyers, too many newspaper men, too many architects, too many retailers—and so on, the list is virtually endless.

No matter what you decide to "take up," you find that a disheartening army of others has the same inclination. Even in aviation there is a waiting list.

No field exists in which success is easy.

The fact that success is difficult proves the existence of sharp competition—over-crowding.

But over-crowding is mainly due to the presence of a multitude of incompetents. For every general, there are thousands of privates who haven't the makings of a general, who couldn't make good at the top no matter how often opportunity knocked at the door.

There are many electrical engineers, but only one Edison. Many surgeons, but only a few Criles and Mayos. Many criminal lawyers, but only a few Darrows.

Plenty of room at the top, for the right man. If you are confident that you have the ability and stick-to-it-iveness to make good, young fellow, go ahead. Don't falter, don't weaken, don't be discouraged by "over-crowding."

A business, trade or profession may be over-crowded with numbers—but never with ability.

The Affair at Flower Acres

© 1924 by NIA Service Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Douglas Raynor is found shot through the heart in the early evening on the floor of the sun room of Flower Acres, his Long Island home. Standing over the dead man, pistol in hand, is Jackson Finley, (former sweetheart of Raynor's wife, Nancy, Eva Turner, Raynor's nurse, stands by the light switch. In a moment Nancy appears, white-faced and terrified. Orville Kent, Nancy's brother, a Goddard, friend of Finley's, Miss Mattie, Raynor's sister, and others enter upon the scene. Detective Dobbins heads the police investigation. An autopsy reveals that Raynor also was being systematically poisoned with arsenic. Lionel Raynor, son of Douglas, claims his father's estate. Finley accuses Grimshaw Gannon, a friend of his, of hiding the original will which favors Nancy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"No, Mr. Raynor, I've not the slightest reason to think that. But I do think—if your story of your drug remedy is a true one—I do think it possible that she was administering the poison pellets."

"My story is true, Mr. Dobbins—oh, please, believe it! I knew my husband was secretly taking drugs—I found that soon it would become an ineradicable habit. Somebody told me of the cure—it was warranted harmless so I tried it on Mr. Raynor. I reasoned that if it didn't cure him, it could do him no harm. And, too, I cannot tell you—I don't want to tell you, how unutterably cruel he was to me because of the drug."

"But I thought," Dobbins watched her closely, "I thought morphine made people merry and happy."

"Yes—but it was when he couldn't get the drug that he was so terrible. I had to hide it from him—and then, when he couldn't find it, he—he became almost like a maniac—he tortured me until I had to give it to him again."

"You poor woman! I don't wonder you wanted to kill him!"

If this was a trap, Nan took no notice of it. She went on.

"I gave him the pellets quite regularly for a time—he not knowing it, of course. I could see no marked improvement in the matter of the drug habit, but I was alarmed at noticing symptoms that seemed to indicate that something was radically wrong. He became slightly anemic, was short of breath, and subject to intense thirst. I spoke of these things to Miss Turner, but she said I imagined them and that he was all right."

"I became more alarmed—yet I didn't like to speak to Doctor Saxton about it."

"Why?"

"I feared he would attribute the conditions to the pellets I had been giving him—and I knew those were harmless—for I had had them analyzed by an expert chemist. So—I really don't know how I came to think of poison, but I did, and I bought a little book telling about poisons and their antidotes. As I read it, I became convinced that Mr. Raynor was regularly taking arsenic into his system. I thought first of suicide—then I began to suspect Miss Turner of knowing something about it."

"And that explains, you think, the whole matter of the arsenic poisoning?"

"Frankly, I do not. I still think—pardon my brutal plainness, but all this is a fabrication of your own. First, poison pellets were found hidden in a vase in your bedroom. Again, if either the drug, morphine, or the patent medicine you say you were administering had been found at the autopsy, your story might carry more weight. But no traces of either substance appear in the report of the operating surgeons. If you suspected Miss Turner, why didn't you accuse her at once?"

"As I told you, Nan spoke with difficulty. I didn't—I don't exactly suspect her—I can only say—I don't entirely trust her. I hoped, if I threw away all the morphine and all the curative pellets, it would never be known that my husband indulged in his reputation and I don't want the matter known. His sister would be most chagrined and mortified if she knew of it."

"Well, Mrs. Raynor, I can't think this is a time for such punctilious consideration of Miss Raynor's feelings, or even of your husband's weakness. Try to remember that you are under grave suspicion yourself of having killed your husband, by poison, or by shot or both. Try to remember that your explanations and excuses so far, have no real weight as evidence in your favor, and for heaven's sake, if you know anything definite or truly prejudicial to any one else, tell it—and help your own cause!"

Dobbins spoke emphatically.

"Now," he went on, "what I'm getting at is this. If you have enough real doubt of Miss Turner, say so—and I'll go straight and hunt her down and face her with the question."

"I don't know—" and Nan's worried face showed deepest doubt. "It does seem so awful to accuse a poor nurse of crime, with so little to suggest it."

"Maybe I can add a little," and as the short, sharp tones fell on their ears, Miss Mattie glided into the room.

"I've been listening," she said, seating herself. "I make no bones of doing that, in any matter concerning my brother's death. I've heard all you two have said—and I must confess, Nan, I think you're pretty good. I don't believe, now, you poisoned Douglas—I believe your story about the drug and the cure—you see I know you better than Mr. Dobbins does. I am shocked, of course, to learn that Douglas harbored after morphine—it's disgraceful—but to my mind, it's a small matter compared with the question of who killed him. Now, I always disliked the Turner woman, and moreover, I always thought there was something between her and Douglas. I mean something that happened before she came here."

"That's what I want to get at!" cried Dobbins, eagerly.

"Come to me, then," said Miss Mattie, calmly. "Mrs. Raynor is rational and trusting—she's really interested in the ways of women of the world. I don't say she didn't shoot my brother—she suffered, Lord knows! and in a moment of desperation—but that's not the point at present. If Nan didn't give Douglas poison—then Eva Turner did. My brother had a lamentable episode in his life about twenty years ago."

"With Eva Turner?" asked Dobbins, quickly.

"That I don't know. But the girl's name was Effie Talcott—and it might have been Miss Turner, under a different name."

Miss Mattie settled herself in her chair, almost as if prepared to enjoy the recital.

"It was when my brother was perhaps forty years old. He was a widower. Effie Talcott was a chorus girl, and Douglas fell madly in love with her. He had no idea of marrying her, but he lavished every attention on her."

"Well, one night they were driving out somewhere after the theater, and there was a motor accident. Miss Talcott's leg was broken and she went to the hospital. She was there nearly a year, and when she came out she did not exactly limp, but she could never dance again. Of course, this ended her stage career, and she turned to my brother for support."

"This he refused, and she brought a breach of promise suit against him. It was settled out of court, but the girl was not at all satisfied with the arrangements made for her, and she vowed she'd get even with Douglas sooner or later. My brother only laughed at this. But I heard that during her stay in the hospital she had developed an interest in nursing and had an aptitude for it. That is all I know—but, if you put two and two together—"

Miss Mattie paused.

"The Talcott girl would be about forty now, and if she has been a nurse for years, she may be a specialist as well as any other specialist."

In consequence of this story of Mattie Raynor's, Detective Dobbins set off at once for New York City, to interview the nurse at the address she had left behind her.

He was greeted in a non-committal fashion by a middle-aged woman, carelessly groomed and informally attired.

"Sit down," she said. "What's it about?"

"About Miss Turner," Dobbins replied. "Where is she?"

"Out on a case—I don't know where, exactly."

"I think you can find the address, somehow, can't you?"

"Maybe, when I know what you want her for. Is it a case?"

"Yes; it's a case," and Dobbins smiled inwardly.

"Oh, well, then, I'll give you the address."

"Look here, I want you to tell me something about her—about her early life. I'm—I'm a reporter. I'm getting started about the early life of nurses, and how they came to take up their profession."

PACKARD TO TELL WHAT AILS AMERICA

"What's the Matter with America?" will be the subject of Dr. Paul Henry Packard's address tonight at the First Christian church at 7:30 o'clock. The address will be patriotic as well as religious and has been broadcast on several occasions and given at various times throughout the country. Dr. Packard in announcing his subject stated that he wished every man in Port Arthur could hear his message.

Fall Frocks Showing The Black and White Combinations Popular

THIS season black and white combinations are still smart, and stress the black and white note, while many of the smartest new evening gowns are striking illustrations of the effectiveness of this combination.

A stunning frock of this mode is a straight and very slender model of black crepe-back satin that owes its distinction to the clever use of black and white. In this instance the white note is introduced by means of a deep oval shape yoke of cream-colored net trimmed with embroidery and silver ball buttons. The white motif is introduced again in the fringe of lace which trims the long tight sleeve as far as the elbow. Here again the silver ball buttons appear.

Another feature that makes this frock decidedly out of the ordinary is the use of both sides of the material. The dull crepe makes a charming contrast to the more glossy satin surface and provides an effective trimming for the skirt where it is used in bands to give the appearance of tiers. The narrow, bell-shaped skirt, characteristic of the best frocks of this type, enhances the effect of tailored simplicity.

In the fashion notes for fall one finds that the newest handkerchief shades for fall are plumb and wine. Little squares of plumb or wine colored linen are worn with the frock during the day time, while for evening dancing purposes one chooses more pastel shades to correspond with one's frock. The latest dance handkerchief is a little wisp of round-shaped linen outlined in lace and there is a buttonhole slit in the center of the handkerchief through which the little finger may be placed.

That blond tulle and chiffon frocks are worn by many of the younger women. They are particularly lovely on women with blond coloring and very gay wraps are worn over them. Full, fluffy frocks are still in evidence for dance occasions for younger girls and matrons.

That skirts remain 12 to 14 inches from the floor. In most cases they are so short as to make walking in comfort almost impossible. For the American trade skirts are especially designed in wider widths.

That black velvet hats with high, square crowns and very narrow brims which turn upwards in back are worn by the smart woman.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernhardt Tendered Surprise

Mr. and Mrs. John Bernhardt were tendered a delightful surprise Sunday afternoon by members of the Trinity Lutheran church, the occasion being the anniversary of Mrs. Bernhardt's fortieth wedding anniversary.

One hundred and fifty guests motored to the Bernhardt home in Griffing Residential Park Sunday afternoon and enjoyed a delightful afternoon of games on the Bernhardt lawn and a delectable picnic supper about 6 o'clock.

Here, F. W. Schell, pastor of the Lutheran church, made a short talk during the afternoon, tendering congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bernhardt on behalf of his congregation. Many lovely presents were received by the honor guests.

JUNIOR MISSIONARY SOCIETY ENTERTAINED

Members of the Junior Missionary society of the First M. E. church, south, met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Fred Galloway at her home, 825 Atlanta Avenue and after an interesting Bible lesson and story by Mrs. Galloway delicious refreshments were served.

Present on this occasion were Merle Davis, Naomi Gillman, Hazel Kerns, Nell Barron and Velma Henry.

Thompson-Harrison Wedding Announced

Announcement of the wedding of Miss Grace Thompson and Mr. V. A. Harrison, which takes place Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the First M. E. church, South, with Rev. V. A. Godbey performing the ceremony, was made Monday evening at an announcement party and shower given by Mrs. L. A. Gleckler at her home, 3229 Sixth street.

The home was lovely with a profusion of yellow and white chrysanthemums. The yellow and white theme was displayed in all details of the decorations. During the evening, each guest was presented with a package, containing the announcement of the approaching marriage and enclosed in the package was material for garments for a miniature bride, which proved the center of attraction in the living room. The guests also wrote advice to the bride in the bride's book, and at the time appointed for the shower Miss Thompson was given a small turkey-gobbler, attached to whose foot was a string. After following the string through the house the bride-elect found many gifts awaiting her. A salad course was offered after the packages had been opened and the gifts displayed.

Those attending the shower included Miss Ann Welch, Miss Addie Dismukes, Miss Ethel King, Miss Reba Holmes, Miss Ralph Lewis, Miss Russell, Miss Jane Duncan, Miss Leslie Humphreys, Miss Leonard Latimer, Mrs. A. T. Eddings, Mrs. J. L. Vetter, Mrs. H. C. Crawford, Mrs. D. A. Daigle, Mrs. Grady Odum, Miss Oley Edgington, Miss Gladys McGinnis, Mrs. W. T. Camp Fire Secretary To Be Here Saturday

Miss Janet McKellar, field secretary of Camp Fire, will address the public at the Department club Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock. All Camp Fire girls, their parents, and all club women of the city are cordially invited to be in attendance. Mrs. R. L. Rutan, president of the Camp Fire Girls' association, stating today that she hoped to have an unusually large number of women interested in the girls of Port Arthur present at this meeting.

Saturday's meeting will be in the form of a reception for Miss McKellar, and it is probable that a model ceremonial meeting will be held. Camp Fire girls will serve refreshments on this occasion.

At noon Saturday Miss McKellar will be guest of honor at a luncheon at Mrs. C. W. Litherland's home in the Model Addition and in the afternoon she will meet and converse with the guardians of Port Arthur.

Mrs. Thom Entertains Two Tables of Bridge

Mrs. R. C. Thom entertained at two tables of bridge Monday at her home, 1409 Duquesne boulevard. The patriotic theme suggested by the approach of Armistice Day was displayed in the bridge table appointments and in the home adornment.

In the games Mrs. O. F. Spence was awarded the prize for high score and the second honor fell to Mrs. H. W. Baird. A dainty salad course was offered after the games.

Players for the afternoon included Mrs. H. W. Baird, Mrs. F. C. Freeman, Mrs. O. F. Spence, Mrs. Joe Stroud, Mrs. S. D. Stuart, Mrs. Arthur Vincent, Mrs. Lee Logan and Mrs. Earl Borden.

Miss Anna Williams Hostess at Bridge

A charming bridge of the week was given Monday evening when Miss Anna Williams entertained the members of the Lady's Shippers club at her home, 1515 Proctor street. Frantic pink roses lent their beauty to the adornment of the home, their pink hues suggesting the motif that was reflected in the bridge table accessories.

Two tables of players enjoyed the games, the trophy for success falling to Miss Nina Dowdy and the guest favor being presented to Miss May Alice Walker. Miss Doris Thompson cut consolation. A tempting salad course was offered after the games.

Enjoying the pleasing affair were Miss Addie Vance, Miss Nina Dowdy, Miss F. M. Vaylakte, Miss May Alice Walker, Miss Doris Thompson, Miss Vivian Ashley, Miss Ruth Corbett, Miss Eula South, Miss Anna Blair, and the hostess, Miss Anna Williams.

Miss Ruth Corbett will entertain the club next week at her home, 1549 Proctor street.

IS THIS YOUR BIRTHDAY?

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 12.—Winter months should hold much in store for you. Be careful of your choice of associates, make friends slowly.

You are quite fond of travel but you must be careful of traveling by water. Your ability to understand human nature will be of great service to you within a short time.

Firmness of character and more confidence in your abilities must be developed by you. Persons born on this date are usually interested in all that pertains to the supernatural. There are mysteries to be solved for you. Attempt no new enterprises unless you can see a successful conclusion before spring.

HE ESCAPES OLD KILLING CHARGE

ASHLAND, Ky., Nov. 12.—S. A. Marting of Bristol, Tenn., has just emerged here after what will probably rank in his mind as his closest call. Marting was arrested and held three days under suspicion of being Bud Collins, mountaineer of Magoffin county, who shot Mack Bailey to death twelve years ago.

Police had been unable to identify Marting as Collins, and was released when identified by members of his family. The suspect had been arrested when a fellow workman reported Marting claimed he was the slayer of Bailey.

Romance plays a part in the case. The story goes back to 1912 when Collins, a youth then, lying around on Spring Magoffin county hills, was enamored of the charms of a girl, and Mack Bailey was his rival. The killing was said to have been caused by jealousy. Collins shot Bailey from his horse and dashed into the mountains.

Suspect Carried Scar

Taylor Bailey, a younger brother of the slain man, is said to have shot Collins in the hip.

S. A. Marting's thigh is alleged to have carried such a scar. Collins also had a scar on his arm, inflicted by a knife in an earlier clash. Collins escaped from the county.

In conversation later with police, the man known as Marting was alleged to have said he would die rather than go back to Magoffin county. "They'll mob me up there if I go back," he said to Desk Sergeant Howard.

Identity Not Established

Sheriff J. H. Patrick and Deputies W. S. Adams and W. H. Caudill came here at once from Magoffin county, went into Marting's cell and made an examination of his body. They found the long scar on his hip and the wound on his arm supposed to have been inflicted long ago when Collins had the trouble in the mountain country.

The officers were not able positively to identify the man as Collins. In general appearance the man known as Marting resembled old pictures of Collins, it was said. It was said by officers that when accused of being Collins, the man denied the allegation, but later said he had killed Bailey, and that he had been acquitted.

Your Dreams

Long before prohibition became the law of the land, dreamers were finally recorded, destined serious consequences for those who imbibed too freely.

To see yourself intoxicated should warn you that you are facing serious consequences in love and business affairs. To be jovial over a cup of wine may mean that you will soon be with jovial friends, but that mistakes of a serious character are likely to follow.

Dead Man's Kin Are Being Sought Here

Possible relatives or friends of Kurt Crox, formerly employed on the Texas Company tanker Alabama, are being sought in Port Arthur by the U. S. commissioner of commerce following the death of Leroy in Civitavecchia, Italy, on August 14, 1924, according to advices received by United States customs officials here today.

Disposition of Crox's personal effects and other matters pending in connection with his death will be made through the commerce commissioner, and anyone who knew the man is asked to communicate with the customs office here. At the time of his death, Leroy was employed as a fireman on the Italian steamship M. T. Ciccone, dispatched from the American consul at Rome stated.

Leslie, I was too amazed at this turn of events to speak, but the girl knew I was interested.

"Harry was always good to me, Mrs. Burke," she continued. "He kept me in school in Geneva from the time my mother died when I was three years old until last year when I was graduated. He came a few days after that looking ill and unhappy and took me away."

"We went over to the Italian lakes but it was not the right climate for Harry's heart. He grew more and more unhappy as he found that he was steadily growing weaker and gave me a letter for you. It was the kindest and tenderest and most loyal woman in the world. It was then he told me you had been his wife."

"Zoe," he said, "I am not going to be with you long. I have very little money left. I was in hopes I would be well soon to earn some more. However, I think there is enough to keep you until you get something to do."

"You can do something to earn your living?" he asked pathetically.

"I had no idea, Mrs. Burke, of what I could do. I had not been trained for anything except to do those little things that a girl must do for herself but I answered 'yes' very decidedly that I could be a governess."

"Well, dear, if I were you I would go back to Paris and get a place as governess in some American family as soon as I am dead."

"At this I burst into tears and he, trying to comfort me, said, 'Don't cry. Honest, I'm ready to go. I've made an awful mess of it and I'm tired. I'm sure you will be more successful without me than with me. You speak French and Italian and surely your education is of the best.'"

"He was silent for a while. It was a great effort for him to breathe. Then he handed me this letter saying, 'If you get into any trouble try and see the dear woman to whom it is addressed. Don't attempt to mail it. The letter will keep years if needed.'"

MEN TURNING NOW TO GOD

Packard Declares They Are Seeking Salvation

Salvation, is it by faith or by hearing and in just what manner is one to get in touch with Jesus, was the subject discussed by Dr. Paul Henry Packard last night at the First Christian church. He declared that though on the surface men may seem to be reckless and careless, many are turning their thought to God.

"It isn't today that men are so far away from God, as it is that they are so near and yet lost," Dr. Packard stated. "As in that time 2000 years ago the question was asked, 'What must I do to be saved?' Men today are asking that same question. The sinner who first asked that question I believe was sincere in asking it, for he not only asked it, but he stayed with it until he got the answer and then obeyed it; and his later actions bore out his sincerity."

"I have no personal opinions of my own. To be perfectly honest and to remove the last vestige of doubt from your mind, go and see exactly what Jesus said. He's the authority for He provided the way for man to be saved and has the right to tell men how to be saved and no man has the right to tell the plan of salvation but Him."

"Read the scriptures and find the Lord's way of salvation. Emotion doesn't save. It isn't tears that bring you to God. It isn't the stirring emotions of the soul that saves."

"It's obedience to the will of God. We'll be saved by doing what Jesus tells us to do. You're a Christian tonight, not because you feel like one, but because you've obeyed God's will to become one.

"What must I do to be saved? Do what the scriptures say. Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ. Have faith in Him. Accept Him for what he is. Then repent. The test of faith and the genuineness of your repentance will be proved by turning around and going back; then confessing Christ before men and in that same submission obey him in Christian baptism."

Preceding the sermon Mrs. J. E. Grammer and Leroy St. John sang a duet, "Jesus Leads."

YOUNG MOTHER IS GIVEN AID

Red Cross Places Baby In Nursery

Discouraged because he had been laid off from work, a father left Port Arthur to hunt employment, leaving his young wife and baby here until something "turned up." The mother was ambitious and could secure work enough to provide for herself and her baby, but the problem of care for the child during the day handicapped her efforts.

When the mother came to Red Cross workers asking for help, it was found that in desperation she was trusting the baby to the care of a negro woman during the hours she was at work. Arrangements were made by Red Cross workers for the baby to be placed in the Day Nursery, during the time the mother was away from home, and at night she had the child with her.

BOOK HOUR IS TO BE RESUMED

Librarian To Give Series Of Lectures

Booklover's hour, started at Memorial library last spring, will be resumed Friday night at 7:30 o'clock when Miss Mary Donaldson, librarian, will open a course of six lectures, starting with a discussion of three books awarded the Newbery medal as the best written for children during the past three years.

The booklover's hour for the five succeeding weeks will be held on Tuesday nights at 7:30 o'clock, instead of Friday, Miss Donaldson said today. Recent books will receive most of the time allotted to the lecture and study courses.

In selecting the children's books for the opening of the booklover's hour next Friday, Miss Donaldson pointed out that this week is being observed nationally as children's book week.

SIGNS YOU CAN BELIEVE IN.
If your breath is bad and you have spells of swimming in the head, poor appetite, constipation and a general no-account feeling, it is a sign your liver is torpid. The one really dependable remedy for all disorders in the liver, stomach and bowels is Herbine. It acts powerfully on the liver, strengthens digestion, purifies the bowels and restores a fine feeling of energy, vim and cheerfulness. Price 60c. Sold by Corner Drug Store.—Adv.

Books for children will be on display and lists to guide parents in purchasing books for their children also are available at the Memorial library.

All who love books are invited to attend the booklover's hour. The series of studies of books was arranged especially for people who do not find time to keep up with the reviews and frequently fail to learn of books that would appeal to them, and for those who could use the hour as a substitute for much of the reading they would like to do, but cannot because of lack of time.

ARABIA PUTS IN FIRST BATHROOM

Advance In Plumbing Is Made In Orient

What is believed to be the first bathroom in Arabia has been installed.

It was recently reported that, through the courtesy of Mr. Charles R. Crane and Company, King Hussein of Arabia secured a modern bathroom for his palace in Djeddah. This is the Red Sea port nearest to the holy city of Mecca.

It used to be said that the railroad was the advance guard of civilization. But now it's the American bath tub. "The absence of sewers and other means of sanitation in Arabia does not generally permit the comforts of modern bath rooms. Now that the king has set an example perhaps his subjects will cause a change in conditions."

The American traveler, accustomed to modern sanitation and bathing facilities, is always amazed at the unsanitary conditions which exist in the old world. Tourists have had much to do with a change of customs. They usually demand baths and use their daily, often to the amusement of the natives.

When approaching almost any of the Oriental airports one gets a distinct unpleasant indication of what he will see on his arrival, should the wind happen to be off shore. Then when walking through the dark, narrow streets which are never lighted by the sun's rays, where sewerage is unknown and filth and disease is on every hand, he appreciates, as never before, the many comforts of modern sanitation in his American home.

This incident of the bath for Arabia's king emphasizes the fact that the American of the most modest means has comforts not enjoyed by even royalty in many of the old countries. Modern manufacturing methods have made it possible for every home to have lavatories and water closets, that are easy to clean; and bathing facilities which invite the daily bath that gives the average American his clear, easy, quick step and healthy body.

FIRE CHIEF STUCK IN STALLED ELEVATOR

ASHLAND, Ky., Nov. 12.—A $50,000 fire here imprisoned Fire Chief Hensley and his companion in a stalled elevator for half an hour and forced all guests of the Hotel Meade to leave their rooms in the biting cold of early morning. No one was injured.

Chief Hensley and an elevator boy went to the basement of the burning building only to find their cage stuck when they attempted to reach the street level.

PROPER USE OF LIGHTS Lighting Halls and Stairs

LESSON NO. 9

The main hall, where we welcome our guests, may be large or it may be small, but probably nothing will light it as well as an attractive ceiling fixture equipped with a total of from 50 to 100 watts of lamp bulbs.

If the hall is large enough, we may add a pair of bracket fixtures on the wall at either side of a pretty mirror, or we may use a small table lamp, candlesticks on a console table. When we do this, the lights should be well shaded, of course, and not too bright. Economy suggests the use of 15 or 25 watt bulbs.

Upstairs halls or long private halls are usually best lighted with small ceiling fixtures equipped with 25 or 50 watt bulbs. In many homes, however, bracket fixtures may be used on the walls to give satisfactory lighting. When the house is wired, the lights in the halls should be put in so that they may be lighted from either upstairs or downstairs.

The lighting fixtures in the halls ought to be placed so that they will light the stairway as well as the hall. In large homes where the stairs turn up, it may be advisable to install a small fixture at the turn to be sure the stairs are well lighted.

AVERAGE FARM SET AT $3.87

Survey Shows Jefferson Land Values

Whether it is cheaper to rent than to buy a farm in this state is a problem confronting the farmer today.

Interesting data bearing on this much-discussed question has just been made available by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural foundation. A government survey covering 41 farms in Jefferson county, on which cash rents were paid showed that in 1920 the average cash rent was $3.87 per acre and that the average valuation per acre was $40. This means a gross return to the owner of 9.7 per cent. In the case of other farms in this county which were rented to kinfolk, the cash rent was $3.40 per acre, which amounted to a gross return to the owner of 21.3 per cent on the rated value of his land, which was $14 per acre.

While these figures may not apply with equal force to individual farms in the county, elaborate tests in most counties are said to have shown them to be correct.

$3,350,000 Is Paid For Chicago Building

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—A profit of $23,000 was made on the sale of the Chicago Trust company building at Clark and Monroe streets in Chicago's business district, it was said by officials of the company who announced the purchase by the Commonwealth Edison company for $3,350,000.

The building, sold three times in 15 years, once housed the famous Rector's restaurant.

Jackets Lose Brilliant Game To Beaumont, 13 to 6

Outplay Purple In First 2 Quarters, But Line Weakens

BY BILL AROHER
The News Sports Editor

PORT ARTHUR came home last night defeated in football, but crowned as warriors brave in perhaps the most glorious gridiron classic Beaumont has ever witnessed, for the Yellow-jackets fought like demons.

It was anything but an ignominious defeat—that 13 to 6 finish—and Port Arthur, rooting squad, patrons, football players and all, is to be complimented on the sterling way she fought. Beaumont met the toughest, hardest grid machine the Purple has faced this season and perhaps in several seasons past.

Just two years ago Beaumont defeated Port Arthur 12 and 6; yesterday with a highly touted team—a crew they had belatedly would defeat the Jackets by 20 points was held helpless as time after time the husky Purple line charged the ramifications of a brick wall of Yellowjackets, only to raise that score of two years ago one lone point.

Jackets Score First
Port Arthur drew first blood when Tommy Morgan, playing in perfect form, intercepted a pass on Beaumont's 40-yard line and raced the distance for a touchdown through a broken field. Port Arthur failed to kick goal. Iglesias' boot falling short; five minutes later Beaumont fluked lucky on a pass that Red Hightower intercepted, and returned the 40-yard run. Beaulac scored from a half-yard line after two cross-backs had placed the pigskin within tally distance, kicked goal and the game stood 7 and 0.

In the final frame, Beaumont charged down the field consistently, smashing through the weakened Jacket line, and Hightower featured for a touchdown from the 3-yard line; Beaulac kicked goal, and that was ice on the chest for the day, 13 to 6.

Almost Overbearing
Beaumont came on the field in that opening round apparently bent upon displaying but little respect for Port Arthur's strength, and started an aerial attack in her own territory. Eight attempted forward passes from spread formation that all but telegraphed the play completed three air stunts and netted the Purple but 8 yards gain, while the Jackets were breaking up five of them and holding Beaumont almost to a standstill. Beaumont pushed the oval down into the Jacket territory, however, where she kept it most of the route, and collected three first downs in that first quarter that ended 0 to 0.

As the teams changed goals, 10,000 fans whose eyes had been glued to a battlefield, and whose nerves had been tensed with the well-balanced play they had been watching, almost ignoring the systematic chants of two well-organized cheering sections, shook themselves from the trance of things long enough to take account of a brilliant play Prejean had made when he intercepted a Beaumont pass on the Jacket 20-yard line, the clever tackling of Booz, the holes Captain Russell Butaud had torn through the Purple wall, and the interference Trow had smashed.

Beaumont Showed Stuff
Beaumont had brought the ball within scoring distance, and Red Hightower had tried a drop kick for a field goal, too, but the Jackets had woken a spell about their up-rights.

The second quarter had barely opened when Beaumont, with the pigskin in her own territory, resumed her air assault. But it just took Tommy Morgan to change the tactics. Quarterback Beaulac was directing, when, on the 40-yard line he plunged high in the air, stretched his arms full length and connected with a long pass to a Purple end. Eons of time seemed to pass while the oval was rolling down Tommy's arms—then a flash of Maroon and Gold dashed up Magnolia Field, 10, 20, 25, 30—40 yards—across the Royal Purple goal Tommy Morgan's feet pounded—pounded to a touchdown.

We All Went Wild
Port Arthur went drunk in a wild frenzy—Port Arthur roared, rocked, howled. Hats soared in the air, coats came off. Wild-eyed unbelievers and doubting Thomases raced up and down the Yellowjacket rooting section. Port Arthur had scored!

The game from the Beaumont cheering stands: "That's all right, gang, let's go!" And the Purple tore into the Jackets again. Just once more they tried that passing stunt in their own territory; just once more; and Tommy Morgan intercepted again, but the referee ruled that Tommy had interfered with the Beaumont player, and gave the ball to the Purple. Then after that, Beaumont's wonderful Beaulac—a little stale as were the balance of the Purple machine from inactivity, perhaps, but still the flashy backfield menace that he is—changed his tactics to line backs that literally split

Beaumont had her streak of luck, too; it came when Hightower fluked into a Jacket pass and raced close to the side line toward the Jacket goal. Down said Trow, on two feet he raced as the Jacket line raced after him. Then an arm desperately reached out after the Hightower and clutched, once, twice, then hung onto his trousers as Taylor brought him down in one of the most sensational plays of the game on the 20-yard line. A series of cross-backs, an end run, and Beaulac went over from the half-yard line for Beaumont's first tally. Beaulac kicked goal. The score stood 7 and 0.

But that was nothing to that horde of lusty, frenzied fans in the Yellowjacket stands. "That's all right, Yellowjackets, that's all right. Fight!" they yelled, and they were loyal, most loyal in defeat.

Third Frame Scoreless
Beaumont was on Port Arthur's 19-yard line when the third quarter ended with the score unchanged. Substitutions, line charges—all had failed. Beaumont's heavy line had been playing havoc with Port Arthur's brick wall. And the Jackets were plainly out-generated in the final quarter, when Beaulac conducted a series of delayed bucks, first through right, then through left guard or tackle, or a long end run that carried the ball across for the only earned touchdown of the game.

Port Arthur played; Port Arthur played hard, doggedly. Butaud, Blanchard, Turner, Taylor, Crow—all those boys on the line played like demons. And Port Arthur has nothing to regret that the best team won.

Kayoes Fay Keiser
GREENVILLE, S. C., Nov. 12.—"Willie Young" Stribling discounted reports he was "burning out" in a fight war, when he knocked out Fay Keiser, New York light heavyweight, here last night. Keiser took the full count in the fourth frame of a scheduled 10-round fracas. The young Georgia fighter weighed in at 170 pounds and performed on the Gotham light heavyweight in a manner that indicates he is probably in the best ring form of his career.

Bears Learn Aerial
WACO, Nov. 12.—Aerial defense was the theme drilled in the Baylor Bears by Coach Bell today in preparation for the decisive conference game with S. M. U. at Dallas Saturday.

Zupke Bolsters Line
URBANA, Nov. 12.—Satisfied his offense is second to none, Coach Zupke devoted his efforts to bolstering the line. Zupke's scouts reported an imperative need for a good forward wall to succeed against Minnesota.

Scrimmage Abandoned
HOUSTON, Nov. 12.—Scrimmage has been abandoned by the Rice Owls and practice periods are being given over entirely to skill drill, tackling and blocking in pointing for the game Friday with the Aggies.

CAP ALLIEN
FATS BUTAUD
GOOD LOSERS

FELLERS, talk about yore grid-iron classics, but they ain't none that'll compare with that game I seen yesterday up 't the Nawth End believe you Uncle Linn Fuller, they ain't! Nawsiere, never did see sich a limb-bustin, hair-raisin, skull-crackin affair in all mah lif. Them Yellowjackets jist played football like, well jist eggscally lik Brother Sherman declared war wuz. An that aint no joke.

Th line belt like—jist eggscally lik Bro. Sherman spoke respectfully uv war, an th backfield wuz as good as enney I ever seen.

In course you'll probly here sum guy bellakin today about what they shud uv dun, an how this play er they shud uv use in talkin, them Jackets jist about played themselves as high inter th limelight uv sports hist'ry yisterdy er they is a team enneywhere. Shore nuff they did! Yessiree!

Everytime Fats Butaud hit th line of Purple it turned a sort uv greenish red, an every time Tommy Morgan went up in th air, he run down with a Beaumont pass tucked away in is arms, an then first thing you knowed, Tommy was dashin this way an that, an darlin this way an that, an runnin lik—well, jist eggscally lik Mr. Sherman reflected upon battie. An it seemed lik them so-called Royal Purples jist cudden figger in out a-tall.

Nawsiere, they jist cudden figger Tommy out!

Port Arthur, th Nations Only Fifth Port, jist picked up an moved over 't Beaumont 't beat em yesterday, en y' never seen sich a crowd en all yore lif. The's rite. Muststueben no less than 10,000 1-2 peoples, countin th headlinesman en all, inside uv that stadium. Th Exporters wuddenuv got that big a crowd of excedent, ner nothin lik that, jist Cove Town fer th minnut. Nawsiere, they wuddenuv.

Everybody sortuv got in a rush on th way over, an kept a crowdin en a crowdin till furst think I knowed they'd done gone an crowded my friend Cap Alien off th road—then road hogs had—na there he wuz in th ditch. Nope, wuzen en ahead, ner nothin lik that, jist forced 'go in th ditch er else. En Cap loved he'd rather go in said ditch then else.

Everybody rooted for Port Arthur. That is everybody that did root for Beaumont. En azout in dashed th routin y'ever seen wuz contrived by that gang uv Port Arthur high stainers, which gathered around behind th Beaumont goal. Yessiree, they did th yellin.

Them Beaumont fellers awearin th Purple didn have much regards for our boys 't start with, as wuz shown when they starts 't sailin that apple up in th air. But they shore nuff had lotta respect befoer that gang uv Jackets had finished stringin em. Shore nuff they did!

I aint cryin over no split milk, ner nothin lik that cause they ain't run 'ery over, but I'm jist tellin yuh fellers what did get over their th y' missed th dogonest scrap I ever seen, an it wuz worth 2 dollars and six bits instid uv jist sick bits.

An I've jist cum 't th conclusion that of I played th gam haff as hard as them Yellowjackets played it yisterdy, an wuz haff as good a loser, I'd shore be a cutter.

That's all!

Is Shifted to Tackle
CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 12.—A long expected change was made in the Harvard lineup when Captain Greenwood was shifted from tackle to center, which position he played last year. Practice consisted of dummy scrimmage against the scrubs.

Out After Grange
MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 12.—Armistice day brought a cessation of offensive practice to the Minnesota camp and drill was confined to the perfection of defensive plays intended to stop the youngster Grange, who visits here Saturday.

Mustangs on Defense
DALLAS, Nov. 12.—Aerial offensive work and a short period of skill work was prescribed for the Mustangs by Coach Morrison. S. M. U. meets Baylor here Saturday. Both teams have a perfect seasonal record.

2-Hour Signal Drill
NEW HAVEN, Nov. 12.—Coach Ted Jones sent the varsity through a two-hour signal drill rather than take any chances on injuring his team in scrimmage. He will probably adhere to that schedule the remainder of the week.

Sooners Kept Jumping
NORMAN, Nov. 12.—The Oklahoma Sooner squad is going through intensive passing practice this week and it was indicated today by Coach Bennie Owen they will use the air game considerably against Kansas at Lawrence Saturday.

Tunney Kayoes McHale
MEMPHIS.—Gene Tunney, light-heavyweight champion of the United States, knocked out Buddy McHale of St. Louis in the second round of an eight round fight here last night.

CENTRAL BEATS HEIGHTS 18 TO 0

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 12.—For three furious periods Central and Heights battled without a score, but in the last quarter the sweeping Central end runs and accurate passing game, not to mention a well-placed punt, placed goal and Central won 17 to 0. Central made 13 first downs to Heights four but frequent fumbles in the first half by the nervous Central backs neutralized this splendid driving power.

The Central interference functioned perfectly. With Sawyer, Kattman and Boyles carrying the ball, the Tigers would sweep around end for gains time after time, the interference cutting down tacklers with unerring precision.

PICKS BAYLOR TO DRUB RICE
BY E. J. STEWART
Athletic Director, Texas University
Written for the United Press
Associations

AUSTIN, Nov. 12.—Last week-end's results in the Southwestern Conference brings Baylor prominently to the fore in the championship race, as I predicted before the season started.

Baylor played, by far, the best game that any team has played against the Longhorns this year and I believe will defeat both S. M. U. and Rice unless weakened by over-confidence or some other of the epidemics that have struck certain conference teams this season.

Bears Kept Intact
Bridges has been fortunate in keeping his team intact but, the same good fortune has fallen to Morrison at S. M. U. If either of the two are hit by an injury epidemic such as the type that hit Texas and T. C. U. low, championship hopes are gone.

Rice, of course, must be considered seriously, as they have two games to their credit with no defeats, and yet, I feel that they do not have a fifty-fifty chance to get by both the Texas Aggies and Baylor. In fact, Coach Heisman is deserving of greatest credit for what he has done with the lowly Owls if they do not win another game.

Texas Lacked Punch
Texas, as was expected, failed to show the punch of the 1923 team and has had to attempt to put over touchdowns with forward passes—a style of game unfitted to her players, who are too light to buck the line and not swift enough to pull trick formations.

My prediction for the first three places at the end of the season at this date, would be, 1—Baylor; 2—S. M. U. and 3—Texas Aggies.

Army Passers Worked
WEST POINT, Nov. 12.—Forward passing continued to feature the Army's practice, while the second team using Columbia formations in practice, was unable to do much against the varsity. The regulars scored twice after bringing the ball within striking distance by a series of forward passes.

Albertson Shows Speed
ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 12.—In scrimmage against the second team, Albertson heartened the coaches by his speedy work in the backfield, making repeated gains of from 10 to 15 yards on off-tackle plays, and will probably be used against Bucknell and the Army.

Iowa Up in Air
IOWA CITY, Nov. 12.—Aerial plays will be used by Iowa against Wisconsin from all indications. The line is depleted through injuries. There has been very little scrimmage this week. Coach Ingwersen is particularly concerned over the weakness of the center of the line.

Omit Scrimmage
PRINCETON, Nov. 12.—The varsity went through three hours of hard drill in a defensive practice against Yale plays, omitting any scrimmage in accordance with Coach Bill Roper's policy of no scrimmage in practice.

Calls Battle Off
NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—owing to injuries sustained to his hand in a sparring match Paul Berlenbach, hard hitting light-heavyweight from Astoria, has called off his bout with Young Marullo of New Orleans, which was scheduled for Friday night at Madison Square Garden.

The hard thing about being the oldest man in town is you have to start first.

Bernardi Agrees to Make 180-Pounds for Eklund But Champion's Okey Must Be Secured By Promoters

TONY BERNARDI says he'll make 180 pounds for Clarence Eklund. But whether Eklund will wrestle Bernardi at catch-weights is the puzzle that now knits the brows of Port Arthur sports promoters trying the age-old stunt of hanging the hooks in big game for a finish match in Elks theater November 20.

Eklund's challenge was to meet the winner of the Bernardi-Stewart fight at the 175-pound limit. Eklund agreed to place his title of light-heavyweight champion of the world at stake. But whether Mr. Eklund will agree to meet Mr. Bernardi at 180 pounds is still an unsolved puzzle, since no word has been received from Mr. Eklund as to what he will do about that.

Another thing that has put a bug in the pot is the question of how much lure, otherwise known as dough, kale or money, Mr. Eklund will want to come over here for a neck wringing contest with Bernardi, since the latter says he will not come below 180 pounds. And that issue will probably furnish quite a big problem for the promoters since the champion has a habit of asking for pretty big purses and doesn't ever bat an eye when he asks for a small guarantee like $500 or more.

A telegram and a special letter were both dispatched to Mr. Eklund yesterday, laying the whole situation before the titleholder and asking the very pointed question of whether he will meet Bernardi at 180 pounds, and just what he will demand for such a bill.

Eklund has been losing frequently at catch-weights of late; he may not care to come here to meet a wrestler as tough as Tony at 180 pounds.

Millions Use It—Few Cents Buys Jar at Drugstore

Even stubborn, unruly or shampoed hair stays combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is a dignified combing cream which gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to your hair—that final touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions. "Hair-Groom" is greaseless; also helps grow thick, heavy, lustrous hair. Beware of greasy, harmful imitations.—Adv.

FRENCH TANKER TIES UP HERE

Captaine Damiane Spends Night at Dock

Two tankers scheduled to arrive in Port Arthur Thursday are listed as the Texas company tanker Occidental, from Bayonne, and the Gulf Refining company tanker Gulfstream, from Providence, due to arrive at the bar about 8 o'clock tonight, according to wireless advices received here. The tanker Occidental is expected to arrive late today or early Thursday to load out at the Gulf company.

Coming up the canal from quarantine station late Tuesday afternoon, the French tanker Capitaine Damiane tied up in Port Arthur for the night, proceeding to Beaumont early today. The Capitaine Damiane will load out at the Magnolia Petroleum company's terminals for France, making the third French vessel to take cargo at the Magnolia company's terminals this month, the other two tankers being the Meropie and the French admiralty tanker Dordogne, finishing loading at the Texas company's Port Arthur terminal.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.
Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.
Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

Probe of Brokerage Firms Is Started

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 12.—Atlanta's brokerage houses were investigated today by a grand jury in connection with Solicitor General Byrnes anti-gambling crusade.
The solicitor general had more than 10 witnesses summoned before the investigators and demanded indictments against operators of the exchanges, contending they violated state gambling laws by dealing in futures.
The witnesses were rounded up Saturday when officers swooped down on all local brokerages in simultaneous raids and suspended business.

SPURNS RICHES TO HELP POOR

Chicago Heiress Becomes 'Angel of Alleys'

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Eunice Flint is satisfied with her bargain.
The girl who exchanged wealth and a place in the social register for a job among a city's "down and out" has found happiness.
She had sought it in the ballroom and at the gay affairs of the ultra "400." But they failed to give it to her.
So she turned to "life's other side." And there it came to her in good measure.
Life Too Easy
Yesterday Eunice was a favorite among the moneyed younger set. Today she is the "angel of many alleys."
She used to have gowns galore—smart Paris creations, all of them. Today she has but a single suit. It is the Salvation Army's uniform.
Eunice is a captain in the organization now.
She says she never will go back to the old life.
"It was too easy," she explains. "But it couldn't give me happiness. Now I have found it here. What else is there for me to want?"
Eunice, now only 22, shocked the brown-stone fronts along the social lane when she first announced her intention of deserting it all.
Han't Come Back
Her friends, though, believed it just a fleeting fancy.
"You will be back in a month," they told her.
But they were wrong. Months have come and gone since then. And Eunice has not returned.
The smart Paris creations hang untouched in her old boudoir. Her step no longer is heard on the ballroom floor. Her old chair is vacant at the bridge parties and afternoon teas.
For Eunice is living now on "life's other side."

SURGERY WINS SKIN FOR BABE

Knife Miracle Gives Child a Name

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—"Tony," born a year ago in the Woman's College hospital, gets a "break"—and the home he was entitled to—at last.

When he came into the world in the hospital ward his mother died. And he had a "harelip." Tony's family already had ten other brothers and sisters and they were not freaks.

The oldest, a girl of 16, was married and had two babies of her own. The family did not have much money. After one look at the ugly baby they went away and just forgot to come back, which left Tony without anybody in the world to love him except about every nurse there was in the hospital. They determined to give that hopeless bit of humanity a fighting chance.

He got it in the form of an operation which is described as a miracle in plastic surgery, and which wiped away the deforming harelip and left a mighty good looking baby who was not going to grow up with any impediment in his speech or weird distortion of his face.

From then on he got fat and sassy and as lovable as only a good looking, healthy baby can be. But the hospital is not a home, and it was necessary to send the youngster away to a home.

He came back to the hospital, not long ago, suffering from pneumonia, and for a time it looked as if that miracle of plastic surgery had been wasted.
Tony's foster mother figured this was piling it on a helpless child and they put up a fight, and won. Back he came with a bounce to red cheeks and big bright eyes that follow one about.

And back came the problem of what to do with him. While the nurses were looking around for a home to put him in, Tony's family somehow got wind of the altered situation. They came to the hospital. This was different. Tony was no ugly freak, but a mighty handsome member of the Tony family. The married 16-year-old sister came forward and announced she would add her brother to her own collection of babies.

'Lease Pirates' Rob Indians, Tells Probe

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Nov. 12.—The attorney general of Oklahoma will be summoned to aid in investigating charges uncovered late yesterday by the congressional Indian affairs committee meeting here, Representative H. P. Snyder, New York, indicated today.

The charges were uncovered when M. T. Eggleston, Denison, Texas, was testifying.
Eggleston testified that "there are 20 lease pirates" working in Oklahoma in collusion with county judges to lease valuable oil lands owned by the Indians at trivial sums.
The accused judges will be summoned before the committee today, Snyder said.

OUR VIEWPOINT

This is another of a series of advertisements by Employees of the First National Bank. Others will follow. Watch for them.

BY W. L. WEATHERALL

We are in the business of loaning other peoples' money. When this fact is considered, it is at once realized that much care should be exercised.

The public who objects that the banker is too conservative, that he leans backward, etc., is blaming us unjustly.

Bankers may differ in their judgment, but as a whole they are found to be sane and fair—but always conservative.

We do keep in mind the SAFETY of the money we loan.

Our customers should try to vision themselves in our place. They should endeavor to get our viewpoint. It will help them and their business, it will make it easy for us both.

The first thing we consider in extending loans to patrons is the character of the borrower. Secondly, the security offered. We will ask what are the applicant's tangible assets. Has he the necessary capital to keep his business functioning, to "put it over" right and to carry him through possible unforeseen difficulties?

We are vitally interested in our patrons, their business ventures, and we are always ready and willing to discuss with them their affairs.

By all means be frank with your banker, regardless of who your banker may be, for YOUR BANK is your best friend.

The First National Bank has in its note cases more than two thousand pieces of paper, representing money loaned to its patrons, aggregating nearly Three Million Dollars, besides gilt edge bonds amounting to nearly Six Hundred Dollars, and in addition to this we usually keep on hand, in cash, here in Port Arthur, and with correspondent banks about One Million Dollars, sometimes more and sometimes less, but always STRONG IN RESERVES.

A. AND M. CLUB DISCUSSES GAME

Aggie Grads Hold Meeting At Plaza Hotel

Football classes and the coming Thanksgiving day game at Austin in the new memorial stadium between Texas university and Texas A. and M., featured discussions of the Texas A. and M. club here when the Port Arthur unit of that organization met in regular session at Plaza hotel.
Although only a limited number of the boys who are members of the organization were present, the club conducted an hour's program that was pleasingly spiced with a round-

Love's Sacrifice

Alice was a normal girl, with a normal girl's longing for a home, children, happiness. She was glad, therefore, when her dearest friend, Loraine, won a good man and settled down to a happy married life. The shock came to Alice later when she discovered herself deeply, passionately, in love with her friend's handsome husband—and that he was as passionately in love with her. Out of this triangle grew one of the most dramatic episodes that true life has to offer. Alice tells everything under the title, "An Old Maid's Story"—in the December True Story Magazine. Brokerage Clerks Work All Night

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Clerks in commission and brokerage houses again worked through the night to handle an avalanche of orders from all parts of the nation as the stock market entered the seventh day of the great post election bull market.
A total of 11,675,279 shares had been traded in since the election when the stock exchange closed last night. Fifty representative stocks showed a net gain of 4.13 per cent.

Grand Ointment Makes Pimples and Blotches Go

Ever since the introduction in this country of the wonderful Black and White Ointment, and Soap, skin specialists say that such troubles as pimples, blotches, bumps, rash, tetter, eczema, "breaking out," etc., are becoming fewer every year.
Wide distribution of Black and White Ointment, and Soap has made it possible to get the benefit of this wonderful, quick effect in clearing disfigured skin and making it smooth and good to look at. Dealers everywhere say they are selling faster than anything of a similar nature they have ever handled, and they attribute this popularity to the low prices at which they are sold, as well as their dependability. The 50c size Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size.
